THE ADAMS EXPRESS ROBBERY.

ONE OF THE GANG CONFESSES-THE TRUE STORY OF THE CRIME - ARREST OF THE

RECEIVER. The story of the Adams Express robbery has at last been told, and the mystery with which it was invested by the detectives has been dispelled by the contession of John Sweeney, one of the suspected men. Sweeney, in company with Dan Haury, an employe of the company, was arrested on Thursday night on suspicion, and since then has been locked up at the headquarters. After the arrest, Mr. John Hoey, the superintendent of the express company, visited the men several times, with a view to have them tell what they knew the affair or make some acknowledgment which would lead to the recovery of the property. From the first Sweeney was steadfast in his denial of any knowledge of the robbery; but on Satur-day Haury intimated that he could do something for Mr. Hoey if Mr. Hoey would assist him in re-turn. Mr. Hoey says he did not pay any attention to this offer of Haury's; but the fact that Sweeney turned informer looks as though it had been used to influence him (Sweeney). Mr. Hoey, nowever, tays he only appealed to Sweeney on behalf of his mother and sister, and that that was sufficient to induce him to make a "CLEAN BREAST OF IT." Before giving the confession it may be well to give Mr. Hoey's version of the loss of the safe, which, by the way, is now published for the first time. That gentleman says that at half-past seven on the morning of Sunday, the 19th day of January, thirty-two sales and trunks were brought to the 'principal office of the company, at No. 59 Broadway, and, instead of being immediately locked up in the vault as they should have been, Sullivan, the watchman, allowed them to stand in the yard. Sullivan went to church and left a watchman named Clark in charge of the packages until he anould return. While Sullivan was away Dan Benould return. While Sullivan was away Dan Benould return. The prisoners were brought to the Tombs yester-day morning at haif-past ten, and Haury was arraigned. Mr. A. Oakey Haif, counsel for Haury, cross-examined sweeney at length and wrenched from him a sort of an acknowledgment that he made the conjession under promise of being let off. He said Mr. Hoey had told him the company would deal leniently with him. When asked by the Judge what he had to say in reference to the charge, he put in the following answer through Assistant District Attorney Russell, "I was in the robbery, but refuse to say anything further." Mr. Howe, counsel for Enrich, also cross-examined sweeney.

Haury, in answer to the usual questions said he was an expressman, aged twenty-six, a native of the United States. When asked to plead he said:—'I deny the charge as I have done for three days, notwithstanding threats, promises and personal pressure."

somal pressure."

THE DISPOSITION OF THE MEN.

Sweener was sent to the House of Detention in default of $5,000. Haury was locked up for trial, his tail being fixed at $5,000. Enrich keeps him company in the Tombs, not being able to find a bondsman for $10,000. James Drew, who was arrested on suspicion, was honorably discharged, Superintendent Walling stating to the Judge that there was no evidence against him.

DARING ROBBERY IN BROOKLYN.

THREE ROBBERS GAG AND BIND A PAWN-BROKER-LARCENY OF EIGHT THOUSAND DOL-LARS' WORTH OF PROPERTY.

A most daring and desperate robbery was perpetrated at an early hour last evening in a pawn office on one of the leading thoroughfares of Brooklyn, though the street was crowded with people at it appears that about half-past six o'clock P. M. Shree men entered the pawn office of Anthony J. Geesey, at No. 114 Atlantic street, a lew doors from Court, and stated that they wanted to pawn some articles they exhibited. While the negotiawas in progress the men acted very sus" piciously, and at length succeeded in getting the pawnbroker to follow them into a corner, when they pounced upon him and slipped a pair or handcuffs over his wrists. They next proceeded to gag the unfortunate man, the instrument being so contrived that while it permitted the wearer to breathe he was unable to utter a sound or give an alarm. Quick as thought they tripped him up, and while lying on his back, guarded by one of the viliains, the other robbers turned his pockets inside out and took $200 in greenbacks therefrom and the keys of the safe. With the keys they unlocked the strong safe, and, taking out watches, jewerry, diamonds and silverware to the value of nearly $5,000, they poured the valuables into a bag which, when packed stood two feet high. Meantime Mr. Heeney kicked and struggied with all his might and main, and the scoundrel who was holding him down becoming fearful that the struggles of the pawnbroker would betray them, sought to give him a quietus by striking him on the head with a cluo. The blow dealt, though painful, did not deprive him of his sensea and he renewed his efforts to escape. The noise at last attracted the attention of a little girl who was in the adioming hallway, and she looked in at the store door to ascertain the cause of the confusion. The rogues immediately occame alarmed and fied the place, taking with them the bag of valuables. No sooner was Mr. Heeney released from the hands of the fellow who head him down, then he got up on his feet, and handcuffed and gagged as he was he gave chase out into Atiantic street in pursuit of the theves. He overhauled the man with the jewels and struck at him with his shackled nands, but the robber disposed of him by tripping him up.

Again Heeney arose and ran after the thief, who finally dropped the bag and was soon out of sight with his desperate companions. Citizens coming up at this juncture took the gag out of the mouth of the plucky pawn-broker and knocked the cufis from his wrists. A policeman was summoned, and the narrative given here was recounted by Mr. Heeney, who was much bruised, and is still suffering from the treatment which he received at the hands of the desperadoes. instrument being so contrived that while it per-mitted the wearer to breathe he was unable to radoes. He claims that he has his recompense from the fact that he succeeded in saving his property. The robbers are described as being roughly dressed, one of them being tall and the other snort, but Mr. Heeney cound not give a more accurate description. Two of the men ran through Boerum street and up State, and the other one ran along Boerum street and down Pacific street. The police are looking after them.

A SCANDAL SQUELCHED.

REV. PATHER HICKIE DEFENDS HIS PRIESTLY

FAME-THE SENSATION SPOILED. The Rev. Father Hickie, pastor of St. Michael's hurch, Forty-second street, South Brooklyn, returned to his residence Sunday evening last, after having spent a nine days' retreat at Fordham College. The publicity which this gentleman's name has had for several days past places him in an unenviable position as the principal character in a scandal which has been going the rounds. It would seem that Brooklynites have grown morbid for sensational stories affecting the private character of individuals, and the morbidity al-ladies as a part of the piece.

The old proverb says:-"Rumor crescit eundo." In the case of the Rev. Father Hickie the truth of the proverb was remarkably illustrated. It would be almost ridiculous to state how many and how various were the rumors concerning him. In fact, they became absurd, and the allegations upon which they were founded were evidently im-possible of occurrence to all who knew him. For week previous to the reverend gentlemen's leaving for his annual retreat these rumors began to creep around and to grow, of course, as they went. The priest heard them and acquainted his Bishop of their import, having traced some of them to their author; but there was no way by which he could reach the bottom of the scandal, 20, worried in heart and body, he leit the city and went to Fordham. The day he left was Saturday, and in the middle of the next week the newspapers were informed that on the previous sunday, while he was in reality beginning his retreat at Fordham, he was in reality beginning his retreat at Fordham, he was the reality beginning his retreat at Fordham, he was constructed and asserting that the priest had had a clandestine correspondence with his daugnter, and that he was a vilsian, &c. Then followed the narration of how the priest turned pale, divested himself of his vestments with dejected mine, cleared out and had not since been heard from. The accasations against the young pastor of St. Michael's have caused a widespread grief smong those who had livened to his serious and participated in the strange individual who has lost confidence in his honor, his purity or his unsported record as a priest. Yesterday afternoon his residence at South Brooklyn was visited by the simple individual who has lost confidence in his honor, his purity or his unspotted record as a priest. Yesterday afternoon his residence at South Brooklyn was who tendered him their sympathy and condolence in this cruel blow. The priest himself is caim, but very cheerful, no way bowed down by the similar source of mind on account of the unsaken condidence which his Bishop reposes in him, and which has been so fully expressed. A Hemalo reporter yesterday had a brief interview with Father Hickies on the subject of the scandal, putting nim plain questions and asking for plain, direct answers. The following is the interview:—

FATHER HICKIE INTERVIEWED.

REPORTER—There are four carges made or insinated against you, Father Hickie, as lar as have appeared in the awayspapers, and i shall only detail you do not sugar the road with a last horse; fourth, that while supposed to be in retreat at Fordham, you were in New Yor ketty at the "Shaughraun." PRESERVATION OF GAME.

REQUIAR MONTHLY MEETING OF THE NEW YORK

ASSOCIATION-INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS. The regular monthly meeting of the New York Association for the Preservation of Game was held at the residence of Mr. senjamin L. Swan, Jr., No. West Twentieth street, last evening, the President, Mr. Royal Paelos, in the chair. The Secretary, Mr. Thomas N. Cuthbert, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

A letter from ex-Governor Dix was submitted, in which he regretted his inability to be present, but desired that the association might take into but desired that the association might take into consideration two great abuses—shooting birds in the spring as they go East to breed and shooting from butteries in Great Bath and Shinecock bays.

Mr. E. Floyd Jones, of Greenport, Suñois county, desires to call the attention of the members to the proposed law for the protection of English and bay snipe. He thought it unhecessary, as the number of this kind of ords killed in New York State were out lew. In the South and West they are shot in great numbers during the winter and spring months, and are sent to the New York markets for saie in great quantities. All snipe are migratory, and the proposed protection will only benefit the market numbers out of the State. If the law could be extended to cover the whole of the country, and the same be enforced, the writer would hearthly approve of it. The communication was referred to the Executive Committee.

Mr. Gaston Fay, of Brackmers, Centre Meriches,

L. L. called the attention of the association to the practice of "ausking" ducks, that is, the shooting at or killing of any ducks or wild geese before sunrise or after sunset. This custom which prevails on the bay where the writer lives, does more to injure the autumn shooting than any one tining that can be named. "Dusking" is followed in August, September and October, and is practiced only on ducks which feed on the edge or sedge of meadows. The law should be amended so as to prohibit the shooting from May I to October I, instead of September I, as now it exists. Referred to the Executive Committee.

Mr. John Hays, against whom proceedings were instituted for selling ventson out of season, in a communication stated that he was ignorant of the provisions of the law, and asked the suit to be discontinued. Granted on payment of costs. Mr. Whitenead, senior counsel for the association, advised that other auits of like character were pending against many dealers. He also read a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, rendered by Chief Justice Church, affirming the judgment of the lower courts in the case of the Club against Joseph Racey, convicted of selling quait out of season. In this connection Mr. Whitehead advised that the penalites against Mr. Racey amount to nearly $3,000, but he had not been able to obtain satisfaction in the matter of judgment. The Club, however, intend to push matters in this case to the fullest extent under the law.

Mr. Seth Green, who was present, was elected an honorary member of the association.

Adjourned to meet on the second Monday of March, at the residence of Mr. David H. Haight, No. 284 Madison avenue.

GENERAL H. P. ADAMS. General H. P. Adams, of Bridgeport, Conn., who went to Colorado some time ago to perfect ar-rangements for working the silver and copper rangements for working the silver and copper mines he had purchased in that Territory, died at Denver, on Thursday, of pneumonia. General Adams was a prominent railroad and mining engineer, and built part of the Illinois Central and Chicago and Northwestern railroads. He was the first man to introduce into this country the French method of extracting sulpaur from copper ore, and the mines in Canada, the only ones discovered on this Continent which furnish the peculiar quality of ore necessary to the successivil working of the process, were owned by him.

JOSEPH O. EATON.

Joseph O. Eaton, the well known portrait and figure painter, diel at Yonkers on Sunday, in the lorty-sixth year of his age. Mr. Eaton was a constant exhibitor at the National Academy of Design, of which he was for many years an associate member. Some of his best works were compositions drawn from chied life, in which the subjects formed portraits. In 1873 he visited Europe, and after his return painted classical subjects and other pictures from studies made while he was abroad. His last picture in the academy was "The Lady Godiva." Mr. Eaton was a painstaking artist, and his death is much regretted. His remains will be interred to-day from his late residence, in Yonkers.

THEODORE F. VAIL. EDITOR. Theodore F. Vail, editor of the Winsted Herald, at Winsted, Conn., died at his residence yesterday, aged forty-three years. He served in the war ay, aged forty-three years. He served in the war in the Second Connecticut artillery, and was adjutant of the regiment when mustered out of service. He has since shown great aptitude and a vast deal of animation as a newspaper editor and a writer for the press.

PROFESSOR HERMANN RITTER.

A HERALD special letter from Yokohama, Japan. under date of January 8, brings the following report :- Smallpox is raging violently just now in Jeddo and Yokohama. Several foreigners have been attacked by this fell disease, of whom four have succumbed. Among the number is Hermann Ritter, Professor of Chemistry and Physic, a pro-fessor in the Imperial College at Jeddo, who died on the 24th mit.

PROFESSOR WILSON, OF THE MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY. A HERALD special letter from Sydney, New South

Wates, supplies the following intelligence:-The scientific world has sustained a severe loss by the death of Professor Wilson, of the Melbourne University, who closed a useful career by writing an elaborate paper on his observations of the transit of Yeaus. He fluished it in the small hours of the night and died suddenly within the same day.

FIRE IN THE REV. DR. BUDINGTON'S CHURCH.

At half-past ten o'clock yesterday morning Offcer Goodale, of the Fourth Brooklyn Police pre-cinct, saw smoke issuing from the roof of the Ciluton avenue Congregational church, at the corner of Cinton and Lafayette avenues. He immediately reported at the Myrtis avenue sia-tion house and the alarm was telegraphed to headquarters, bringing five steamers and two hook and ladder trucks to the scene. The fire was found to be in the upper part of the chapel, between the ceiling of the bunday school room and the root, and when the ficemen arrived the foot, and when the ficemen arrived the flames were making rapid headway. They lost no time in getting to work. Several steady streams were poured upon the blazing umbers, and in less than hair an nour the flames were extinguished. While the fire was in progress the police and a number of citizens removed the banners and two planos from the Sunday school room, preventing them from the sunday sunday them from the grands is fully covered by insurance. SERIOUS FIRE AT HUNTER'S POINT.

Early yesterday morning a fire was discovered in Fire Engine House No. 5, on sixth street, Hunter's Point. It quickly spread to the school house and a two story dwelling, which were soon con-sumed. It then turned to the west and embraced the grocery and feed store of F. McGee and Mr. Gallagner's undertaker's store, with stables, en-Gallagner's undertaker's store, with stables entirely destroying them. Every effort in the power of the Fire Department was put forth to save these buildings and to preven the further spreading of the flames. They were cripping by lack of adequate water supply, and it is probable that the confidention would have become general but for the timely arrival of two engines from Brooklyn with such supply of hose as enabled them to make effective water connections and overcome the fire. The total loss is estimated at $10.000; insurance, $4,500. It is believed the fire had an incendiary Origin. THE WEATHER VESTERDAY.
